Letter from Jerusalem

B:H Shira and I enjoyed a successful and safe journey to London and Montreal. In Canada, we celebrated the wedding of my eldest grandchild, Saadia to Devora Tanny. The wedding was a beautifully orchestrated and happy event and we have glowing memories of the joy and the tender emotion of the participants.

An additional treat for me was to enjoy a mini reunion with Ed's half-sister, Ronnie from New Jersey and her daughter, Dr. Geri Katz from Florence, Mass. Ed's sister, Harriet and her son, Glen and family from White Plains New York, my close friends, Dr. Ira and Shirley Stein of Sharon, Mass. and Dr. David Sanders, Ed's colleague and close friend from Purdue University. The occasion was also one of the rare times that a selection of grandchildren from various families and my four children were all together.

Adding to our enjoyment of the wedding week were several "sheva brochas," parties with singing, dancing and words of Torah. I also experienced two unusual musical events. One in which I was an onlooker was the chance to hear, on the lawn of a lovely home, a real alpine horn, hand-made in Switzerland. Because the horn, according to tradition, was the combined height of two shepherds, it was twelve feet long, which made it appropriate to play outdoors. The bride's father, Rabbi Tanny, elicited a warm mellow sound on the horn.

Another musical highlight was my opportunity to play recorder quartets for four hours one morning. The bride's mother, Peshe Leah plays bass recorder, and we other three players used, alto, tenor and soprano. It was a stimulating and satisfying musical experience.

Shira and I spent very "gemutlich" days in London breaking up the journey both ways. We were very comfortably and capably hosted by my children Hillel, Yael and family. B:H we our return trip to Israel was uneventful.

Returning to Jerusalem

My dear friends, Rabbi Neil and Erica Brief wrote to me that their grandson serving in the army was among the searchers for the three kidnapped boys for over two weeks. I recently read that there were experts in the area who work at the nearby Field School. These people knew the terrain very well and with the protection of the IDF were able very cleverly to deduce where the three boys were buried. I understand that an alert volunteer saw a bush that looked as if it had been misplaced and that was the clue to the mystery.

As I'm sure my readers know, many rockets, hundreds and hundreds, have been lobbed by Hamas into Israel. There are sirens throughout the country, but B:H I believe very few casualties. When I was away, there were several sirens in Jerusalem, but, mercifully, it has been quiet here these few days upon my return. As you can imagine, people, are tense and concerned.

One of my readers, Dr. Geri Katz, asked me to disseminate this information. By the way, I knew the parents of the young man who started the United HaTzolah service.

In typical Israeli fashion, people are thinking out of the box to prevent future tragedies like the kidnapping and murder that has brought such sorrow.

The non-profit emergency response service United Hatzolah launched a public SOS alert app that can dispatch an immediate distress call--and the caller's precise location--to the Israeli police and their own dispatchers.

Within the first week the SOS app for Android and iPhone was downloaded for free by one hundred thousand users. Another free smartphone app "Tzeva Adom," (Red Alert Israel) was developed to make sure users in Gaza area communities wouldn't miss an air-raid siren.

Ari Sprung developed an Android version for iOS in his Jerusalem base-ment. In the past tense week, the updated app -- now including a chat feature so people can share their emotions-- is being downloaded at a fast clip. There have been over one hundred thousand installs of the Android version and the iOS version is available in English. "We're learning that people are downloading it not only to make sure they hear the alert, but also to keep tabs on relatives anywhere in the country.

Ari and Snir are seeking donations of servers or cash to expand the app world-wide in several languages. They just announced that users of the popular Israeli social app YO will get a "yo" every time a missile is launched into Israel, if they are sub- scribed to Red Alert Israel (via Israel 21c).

Praying for peace,

Cyrelle

Goodbye Good Friends

We are sorry to have to say goodbye to the Salzman family. They certainly will be missed. But, it is wonderful to report that when they arrived in their new home in Boise, Idaho they were greeted by former SOA members, Dennis and Sharon Abramsohn.

A little Indiana History:
Milton Kraus, a Jew, a Republican and a life-long Hoosier, served 3 terms in the US Congress from 1917 to 1923 and organized a company of volunteers for the Spanish-American War.

Important Positions to Fill:

Presidency

Gwen Slamovich will soon be retiring from the position of President of Sons of Abraham, and the WBoard of Directors welcomes suggestions for a replacement. The person who steps up to take this position of leadership, like Gwen, will recognize the need for good stewardship and heartfelt involvement to lead our Congregation.

Web Master

In order to keep our web site current, we need someone to take over as Webmaster. This person doesn't even need to live in Lafayette, but will be willing and able to maintain this invaluable tool to share SOA news with the cyber world.

If you are interested in stepping up to fill either of these positions, please contact Gwen at gwenvet2@mac.com.

Please note!

All Shul members should check their listing in the current directory and report any changes to Harriet Diamond hardiam819@gmail.com, or by phone at 765-463-1416.

On July 22, the House passed an extraordinary measure that aims to inhibit

Hezbollah's financial procurement through its various illegal schemes. If enacted, the Hezbollah International Financing Prevention Act would curtail Hezbollah's destructive practices.

Hezbollah—a group closely tied to Iran and identified by the U.S., Israel, and the European Union as a terrorist organization—is responsible for carrying out numerous terrorist attacks against U.S. and Israeli interests.

In addition to serving as Iran's terror proxy in the region, Hezbollah is also heavily implicated in international drug trafficking. Hezbollah is one of the most violent anti-Jewish and anti-Israeli entities in the Middle East.

As of right now, the Senate version of this bill (S. 2329) resides in the Senate Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs. Please join B'nai B'rith's efforts by telling your senators that you support measures to prevent the further funding of Hezbollah.
